Wedding Night - Shakespeare

III/5

✦ Juliet:

Are you going? It's not morning yet. It was the nightingale, and not the lark, that you heard; Nightly she sings on that pomegranate tree. Believe me, love, it was the nightingale.

✦ Romeo:

It was the lark, the messenger that says it's morning. No nightingale. Look, love, what jealous streaks of sunlight.

Lace the parting clouds over there in the east. Night's candles are burned out, and the joyful day Stands tiptoe on the misty mountain tops. I have to

Interpretation

Juliet doesn't want Romeo to go, so she says that they hear the nightingale, which sings in the night, and not the lark, which is a messenger for the new day.

Wedding Night - Today

Julia:

You don't need to get up. It's not morning yet. It was my sister coming home and not the milking machine, that you heard.

Every night my sister comes home from the fields. Believe me, darling, it was

Romeo:

It was the milking machine, which your mother started. Not your sister. Look, honey, what jealous noise of the cows, wanting you to feed them.

The stars have gone already and the new beautiful day is waiting for you.

Love poem

Just to say I love you never seems enough.

I've said it so many times
I am afraid you won't understand what I really mean when I say it.

How can so much feeling,
so much adoration possibly fit into those three little words.

So no matter how many times I say it,
never take it lightly, for your and my life,
and my only love.

I love you more than ever before.
